Dispute Resolution

Feixiang Zhu has been practicing Intellectual Property Law, especially IP rights protection for many years. Mr. Zhu and team specialized in IP rights protection throughout mainland China especially in the coastal areas which are economically developed, relying on the strong investigation network established by V&T Law Firm. Mr. Zhu is an expert in forcing the IP infringers to complete their rectification and to stop infringement of software copyright via communication, negotiation, and litigation. In the process of case handling, Mr. Zhu and team will formulate negotiation strategies in accordance with specifics of different cases in different regions, matching proper personnel and practice to follow-up and maximize the commercial value for the clients.
